

DAY IN THE LIFE

Diagnostic Imaging Nurse

Team player ready to collaborate with Radiologists, Nurses, and Medical Radiation and Imaging Technologists (MRIT) to provide exceptional care to patients pre, intra and post-procedures

Possess critical care nursing knowledge and the ability to work autonomously in a quickly changing environment

Competent to manage deteriorating patients and code situations

Basic understanding of types of Interventional Radiology procedures and potential complications

Commitment to life-long learning as procedures are always changing and being added

Dedicated to provide compassionate bedside manner and use strong communication skills when providing patient and family centered care

Ability to wear lead apron (approximately 20-25lb) for extended periods of time

Provide on-call availability to offer the Scarborough community access to timely emergency vascular interventional procedures

