Haematologist

Department of Medicine

The Department of Medicine at Scarborough Health Network is recruiting for a staff Haematologist to join our current team. As a staff Haematologist, you will assess and treat patients with benign and malignant haematology conditions in an ambulatory setting. You will also consult on admitted in-patients, join regular department meetings, actively participate in Multidisciplinary Cancer Conferences and participate in the haematology call schedule.

The position is funded through an Alternate Funding Plan (AFP) with the Ontario Medical Oncologist Association (ONTMOA) and is a 0.5 FTE for malignant haematology. The successful candidate will also be expected to provide service to Scarborough residents by establishing a benign haematology practice in a community based office which will be remunerated through a fee for service model.

As part of SHN's vision to become Canada's leading community teaching health network, the successful applicant would be supported to obtain an adjunct-lecturer appointment with the University of Toronto, Department of Medicine to facilitate to education of medical students and residents.

The successful candidate must be eligible for independent practice licensure with the College of Physicians and Surgeons of Ontario, hold RCPSC certification in Internal Medicine and Haematology. Emphasis will be placed on candidates with experience working in a community hospital setting as well as candidates with strong communication skills. Interest in red blood cell disorders would be an asset.

SHN ABOUT US

Across our three hospitals and eight satellite sites, Scarborough Health Network (SHN) is shaping the future of care. Our many programs and services are designed around the needs of one of Canada's most vibrant and diverse communities. We are the third largest community hospital in Ontario and are home to North America's largest nephrology program, as well as the designated cardiac care and spine centre for Scarborough and surrounding communities to the east. We are proud to be a part of the Toronto Academic Health Science Network (TAHSN) and partner with a number of universities and colleges, helping to train the next generation of health care professionals.

At SHN, we are committed to fostering diversity, equity, and inclusivity in our workplace. We strongly encourage applications from individuals of all backgrounds, including those from underrepresented groups. We believe that a diverse team enhances our ability to provide excellent patient care and promotes innovation and creativity. SHN is dedicated to providing reasonable accommodations to applicants with disabilities throughout the recruitment process. If you require accommodations, we will work with you to meet your needs.
